IN FOCUS

I have nothing but admiration for Hearing & Audiology. At all times they advised me regarding what I needed and took a personal interest in my needs, so much so they could easily change their name to A.C.E.

A - Appreciation & Advice
C - Courtesy and Caring
E - Efficiency and Energy
Attributes that most companies or people don't have and it may be because most of the consultants are family. If not, they are meant to feel that way just as their clients are made welcome. I now have the best hearing since it started to deteriorate some 15 years ago. Hearing & Audiology are professional in whatever they offer.

Q & A

Question: What is the latest gadget in hearing aid accessories?

Answer is to be found within our newsletter, email your answer through to us at info@hearingwa.com.au or like us on Facebook & you could win yourself some batteries valued at $75.00.

Competition closes 30th June, 2014 and the winner will be notified by email.

VETERANS AND TINNITUS

We have recently received information from The Department of Veteran Affairs that there is a new system available for those Veterans who experience tinnitus that is not helped by hearing aids—using Neuromonics, which was developed here in WA, and is used by the American Veterans. If you have tinnitus that is affecting your ability to concentrate or sleep please come and see us for further help.

If you read your camaraderie magazine you may have noticed a section on TV devices - most hearing aids have options to help you with TV. Our newer free devices have bluetooth technology that enables you to wirelessly access the TV and are complimentary for Veterans. Remote controls are available to eligible clients as well. Please ask us for more information.

For ongoing updates on the latest technology please go to our website: www.hearingandaudiology.com.au

IPHONE READY?

The latest gadget in hearing aid accessories is the addition of an iPhone app. For those with wireless bluetooth devices that connect to the TV and mobile phone this removes the need for an interface device or neckloop worn remotely. These new apps mean that you can use your phone as the interface. An iPhone can be used as a remote control or linked directly to your hearing aids for hands free use. It can also connect with iPads for Skype phone calls or facetime movies or music - the choice is yours! Starkey and Oticon have been the first to come out with this option but with all things in the hearing industry, if its popular everyone gets on board too. Call us for more information.

If your battery does not work when inserted into the hearing aid please wait for two minutes and try again. Manufacturers are recommending two minutes after peeling off the sticker before use.
